

North Kent Embroiderers

There was much creativity on show at our last meeting. We welcomed back Elitta Fell mouseline.co.uk for a practical silk painting workshop that we could take part in. The hall was noticeably quiet as we concentrated on using silk paints to carefully fill in the different sections of the image we had chosen. The outline of the image is created with 'Gutta'. This acts as a resist and stops the colours from bleeding into each other. The delicate silk was backed to reinforce it and to enable us to attach it to a greetings card blank. Everyone enjoyed the session.

Back in March this year, Beth Power of Dotty Textiles <https://www.dottytextiles.com/> had also led a workshop with us based on her own beautiful 'stitchscapes'. These are embroidered pictures which use decorative fabrics as a basis for the design and embroidery style. Beth set us a challenge to complete our own 'stitchscape' by November this year. The results were stunning as you can see from the two shown on the left. They were truly pieces to be proud of and as you can see the style was used in one of our latest 'postcards' The theme for this month was waterfall/ stream/ pond (to include some Fly Stitch).
